hugely until a late hour at night.

Mr. D. F. Walker returned several days ago. Have not seen him since his return but hear he liked the country very well.

Mr. Whit Ramsey, tax collector, called on the citizens of our corner of Gonzales county, last Friday, and left many of us with less cash than he found us with.

Everything is quiet in our midst.

Health very good.

The Institute school is doing well.

The young men have a literary club at the Institute. They meet every Friday night. Wish the boys success in their undertaking. Success to the GAZETTE, etc. RAMBLER.

Stonewall Institute Briefs.

STONEWALL INST. NOV. 13.
EDITOR GAZETTE: The end of the drought has struck the Stonewallers.

It rained yesterday and to-day, almost all day but slow. The land which is under cultivation is wet only about four or five inches at present.

Mr. Oscar Woodley and wife of Yoakum are visiting Mr. Thompson's family.

No sickness with the exception of Mr. Oscar Woodley. He has erysipelas.

One of our young men went out buck hunting last Saturday and out of a bunch of six killed one deer.

Mrs. Blasigane or Gonzales has been visiting her friends two weeks and returned home last Saturday.

This cold, wet blizzard seems scare the stockmen. I guess on account of grass being so short. The prairie look as if they been shaved.

Some of the farmers are in for stalk cutting as breaking as soon as they dry.

This weather serves the badly on the prairie where a fair flock at this time.

Mr. Eldon, who has been visiting here, says a little more rain would be just what we need.

General Henry McCulloch Quinn was visiting Major Ross Gellhorn of this place last week. He left Saturday for Rockport to his sister, Mrs. Brown of place. He is a brother of the Hon. McCulloch who was killed at Pea Ridge. General Henry McCulloch served throughout late war with honor and distinction and there are several old days in this vicinity who under his command.

Sunday morning the fire hydrant man, tongue man, people men and a whole lot of vates gathered on the corner by city water tank and got ready drill. After counting noses it developed that the chief was missing. The hose nozzles were brought to use in the hopes that he could be called up. The tooling, blowing was all in vain however as it transpired that he had gone to Hallettsville. The drill will come off next Sabbath if the weather permits.

On account of the opening of the Galveston Wagon Bridge, the citizens of Galveston have provided for three days of genuine "fun." Grand street parade (civil and military), fire department exhibition, oyster roast, fireworks display, jettty excursion, scenic drawing, U. S. life saving dept., exhibition, etc. A bureau of public comfort will be maintained, in order that all who come may find suitable accommodations. Round trip tickets will be sold from Shiner to Houston on Nov. 14th, good to return Nov. 19th, at one fare. At Houston round trip tickets can be bought to Galveston for $1.00. Apply to your local S. A. & A. P. ticket agent. S. J. Young, E. J. Martin, Local ticket agent. G. P. A.

At the fire company meeting Tuesday night the committee appointed to draw up by-laws reported that the by-laws were ready. The report was accepted and by-laws adopted. The meeting was held in the GAZETTE office and a motion made and carried that the company meet next Sunday morning for drill and that the chief shall call the company together at eight o'clock by ringing the City hotel bell, so that all hearing the bell next Sunday morning will know what it means. A motion was made and carried that the chief, Ernest Wagemann be fined a keg of beer for being absent last Sunday. The next meeting of the company will be Tuesday night, Nov. 21st at the K. of P. hall. At this meeting the final organization of the company will be completed and the company will settle down to business. A full attendance at this meeting will be had and the Shiner fire company will be put in condition for active duties.

JUST AS HE EXPECTED.

He Preached That the End of the World Was Nigh.

REBUKED.

They were both about fifty years old, the bride and groom, and their rather hasty wedding, considering that the bride's first husband had only been dead about three weeks, had created considerable comment. It seemed that they had been courting for some time prior to her first husband's death and so when he was finally out of the way they couldn't wait as long as society demands people should wait, but secured the license and were married forthwith. All the boys in the country about gathered together and determined to give them a genuine old fashioned charivari. Armed with tin horns, tin pans, kettles, bells, shot guns and everything calculated to make an unearthly din, they surrounded the house at night and commenced. The pans rattled, the horns tooted and the up-roar was deafening. After it had continued for about a half hour, the front door was jerked open and the newly married couple appeared in view, the groom holding the lamp up while the bride made a survey of the crowd. A hush fell on the surroundings and in the interval the lady was heard to say, in a shrill, treble voice that could be heard a quarter of a mile: "Young men, aren't you all ashamed of yourselves a coming around the house with all that noise and only just the other day there was a corpse here in this house?"

Said a drummer on the streets the other day: "I heard a man say the other day that the only men who ever venture to make weather forecasts here in Texas are new-comers and damn fools. Either we are all new-comers or else we are all damn fools. One of the other ways we are all given to prophesying about the weather and will never learn any better. It reminds us of a remark we heard one day not long since. A traveling man said: 'A man needs three things here in Texas and he needs them bad all the year round; those three things are an overcoat, an umbrella and a palm leaf fan.'"
